G. E. YALOW, Agent

President, Republican County Committee

At a meeting of the republican county committee, at Weiser, July 30th, it was decided to hold primary elections in the county precincts of Washington county on Saturday, August 30th, for the purpose of electing delegates to attend the county convention, to be held at Weiser on September 16th, for the purpose of nominating a county ticket. The number of delegates from each precinct are as follows:

The following curious puzzle is based on the dimensions 12-1-15, and it will work if directed: Take a strip of paper or cardboard thirteen inches long and five wide, thus giving a surface of sixty-five inches. Now cut this strip diagonally in two places, one inch from each end, and you can, giving two pieces in the shape of a triangle, and measure exactly five inches from larger end of each strip and cut in two places into three pieces and put them in the shape of an exact square, and it will appear to be just eight inches each way, or sixty-four square inches, a loss of one square inch of superficial area, measured with no dilatation of surface. The question is, what became of that inch?

There are now several regularly scheduled presidential elections in the field, and (Gen. B. H. Hatcher's name appears on two of them). They are: regular republican and democratic primary, national prohibition, national prohibition, and the breakback job. The names of the nominees for president in the order named are: James C. Hahn, Irving Cleveland, John F. St. John, Samuel C. Pomeroy, Foss Ben Henderson and Ben Smith F. Peffer. It is probable that there will also be a post-World War election in the field.

The New York Times publishes a letter commenting on the horrible way of life in the West. There is not much here that is horrible, except the fact that there is no light, and the only light is from a single lamp. The editors of all papers in the West are commenting on the fact that there is no light, and the only light is from a single lamp. Gold Reserve

(Portland (Or.) Daily News)

The New York papers are discussing the question as to what will be the result of the greatest reduction of the gold reserve in the treasury. This reserve has diminished $25,000,000 since the 24th of June. Under the policy inaugurated by Secretary Stimson, and maintained for a long time by his successors, the reserve was maintained as nearly as possible at $140,000,000. On the first of May last it was $145,000,000. The last congress, however, authorized the reduction of the limit to $100,000,000—a most mischievous piece of legislation. Under this law the sub-treasurer has been paying out gold in the ordinary course of business, and for a time did so without inquiring the reserve. But since the first of May the reserve has been diminishing until it has now fallen to $115,000,000. It is this rate it may soon be expected to reach the limit fixed by law—$100,000,000, and then will come the announcement to most gold holders that the gold will be paid out, except such as may be reserved for custom duties.

This source cannot be depended on, because silver dollars are being paid out for custom duties. This is likely to precipitate the struggle between the two metals, a struggle that is regarded by the gold holders as the beginning of the end of the gold standard. It is estimated that this struggle begins, the first result will be a premium on gold, which will at once cause speculation in gold, and an advance in its price. The treasury clearly apprehends the danger of the situation, and orders have been issued from Washington to pay out gold as sparingly as possible, using notes and certificates whenever it could be done. This is the gloomy aspect of the situation. On the other hand there is reason to hope that the depletion of the reserve will be checked by a resumption of gold imports. Last week about $1,500,000 in gold was shipped from Liverpool to New York and the decrease of the Bank of England balances indicates that the flow this way is in no immediate danger of stopping. The conditions on this side are calculated to stimulate the importation of gold.

An active demand for American products is only checked by high ocean freights, which will, no doubt, be reduced soon. The prospects are so magnificent that speculation for a rising market will be dangerous. Therefore, there is no occasion for alarm even in the rapid reduction of the gold reserve in the treasury. It will be very hard to seriously embarrass a country financially with such hazards as are being gathered in America on this side with the whole world for a market.

Salon Staines, 14th: Eagle and the Oregon Pacific railroad company, for the number of twenty-eight cars, including the full load, are engaged in making examinations of passes in the Cascade range for a continuation of that route from Eugene. They entered it, a state law, the present time the company is sitting up a supply depot about 100 miles from Eugene, on the ground, with the purpose of carrying a thorough examination of the new line to the headquarters of the Oregon Pacific railroad, from Lewiston, Idaho, and to the west end of the railroad, about 100 miles from Eugene.

Annual Assessment Work

Great misunderstanding prevail respecting the law of annual labor assessment of Idaho. All foreign sections of the United States statutes requires at least $100 worth of work to be done on each lot within each year after that of the original discovery, and that the person, or what there may be a legal relation, is required to do that required work for any one or more years, unless there is intentional abandonment of the claim—done actually forfeit the title. To work each year for these years, unless there is a legal relation, is required to do that required work for any one or more years, unless there is intentional abandonment of the claim—done actually forfeit the title.

Never Forget the Children

Never forget the children in your plans for the future. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, or, to change the figure, it is very easy to jump a locomotive when everything is in running order, but after a collision it is quite another thing. Put your will on the right track and keep it there. Ten chances to one he will do so unless he is twenty-five or thirty; and then—well, you need not think your head because he will do it. Give the boys some-thing to do. As for the girls, soon as school days are over their books are thrown aside, and they are expected at once to identify themselves with haphazard interests, or become victims of loneliness, according to circumstances. Before the first of the last, but give them something to do—something which involves routine. Let the girls and boys keep up a paper or study. Give them books and papers to read, and find occupation of some sort for them or they will become restless and unruly, and give you many a headache.

All signs of the declaration of independence signed their names with a will pen group—some signed the Witherspoon.

Dr. De Lewis says the average man and woman will not be smaller at the waist than at other parts of the body.

It is said that Victoria county, California, alone, will produce 100 tons of honey this year. Thirty-two million dollars worth of candy is manufactured in the United States annually. The sun powers and the sun runs whether we sleep or wake, but at rest.
