In reference to the supposed murder of Elva Mander at Old Middleton, the Boise Democrat of the 15th instant has following questions: D. S. Wadsworth, J. S. Sear and R. Sage, arrested on charges of murdering the young lady who was supposed to have committed suicide at Middleton, are before the court, were held in 1931 but early Judge A. E. Calloway, in default of which they were brought here and lodged in jail to await the action of the grand jury. Edward Cheng, Jr. furnishing one of the $5000 bail set in to bail. The whole of the proceedings in that case were the territorial part and were marked by the grand jury. This much was the fact Mr. Calloway believes he can fully substantiate. The feeling of the people was so strong against the prisoners, Mr. Calloway says that they barely escaped lynching.

The Franklin Daily News very truthfully say: "In the United States, at the present time there are 500,000 manufacturing establishments, which give employment to 100,000,000. The yearly product of these establishments is estimated at $100,000,000,000— or one-fourth more than the population of Great Britain. That the country open before us has the capacity to do more than the 500,000 or thereabouts of the 1930's, is an obvious fact."

Some Communist school, says the Washington Daily Worker, who has been given a grant of $50,000 from the federal government in Idaho, is being run by the same man who was given a grant of $50,000 in Montana. The school is being run in the name of the Communist party in Idaho.

The commission will report on the results of the investigation into the alleged violation of the Espionage Act by the late Senator Charles McNary. The commission will also report on the results of the investigation into the alleged violation of the Espionage Act by the late Senator Charles McNary.

Discovery of the Banner Mine

Mr. Weller: The Banner mine is situated in the front of a mining camp after a period of twenty years from its discovery. Having seen several accounts in regard to the first discovery of quartz in that district, I will endeavor to give you the correct story.

The latter part of June, 1864, Jack Bradford came to my cabin, near Ploverville, and wanted me to go with him to explore a mine south of which I had a small claim.

Banner, I told him I could not go the next morning, as my horse was on Shafter's ranch. He said that if I would go he would pack his horse, and we would walk.

Jack Bradford and I went with two men who were mining there. They told me Bradford had been to Shafter's ranch, and that they could show us where we would strike heavy silver.

We started on the morning of July 2nd, and after a long ride we arrived at Ploverville. Mr. Bradford and James H. Hawley left for North Payette the following day.

The rock led in the hill for some time, Frank Stanger took some of it to Ploverville and told John Denmore to prospect it and he would give him an interest in the claim.

Stanger said that the rock was the best he had ever seen, and that it was worth $100,000 per ton. He said that the rock was the best he had ever seen, and that it was worth $100,000 per ton.

Body of a Man Flung Down Snake River

W. W. Williams, of Colville, Wyoming, called at the Register office on Thursday and stated that he had an item. He was on his way to take a look at this part of the country, and on Wednesday while camped on the river bank near Bannock, one of his little boys who were with him called his attention to what he said was a man floating down the river. He caught his fish pole and line and succeeded in catching the hook in the clothing, but the current was so swift that his hook was broken.

He then ran down to a point where the river bends and viewed on fifty or sixty feet and succeeded in catching hold of one leg or foot, but was unable to hold on to it in the swift current. Finding he could not secure it, he went to his camp and taking one of his horses rode to Blackfoot and informed the justice of the peace. Whether it was seen and secured there we have not learned.

He described it as follows: It was floating face down, was apparently a man about 5 feet 10 inches, rather heavy set, sandy hair, eyes blue, and wearing a black and white check shirt with the sleeves rolled up and trousers black, and what appeared to be white dicking pants, the shoes were black.

The following is one of the rules issued by the Northern Pacific railroad for the government of the employees: "Persons in the employ of the company having control of men, must never, under any circumstances, curse them; hold them in contempt; use vulgar language; or be disrespectful to any of them."

It arrived here last Tuesday at 11 o'clock a. m. Whether the railroad will bring us a boon, we know not.

Baker city does not seem to be troubled by all one way or the other about the road. We are of the opinion, however, that the town will be greatly benefited by the railroad. One thing certain, the railroad will make the lower country richer and money more scarce than it is at present.

The Portland Oregonian has recently printed a vulgar language and will no longer type in the publication of that journal.

"A charge to keep I have," remarked the tramp, as he received the load of bird shot from the farmer's gun.

THE WASHINGTON LEADER.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 30, 1894.

For Sheriff. My wife, deceased, and Oregon Republicans. Subject to the decision of the democratic county convention of Washington county, at the next November election, subject to the decision of the democratic county convention on county.

For Sheriff. I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Washington county, subject to the decision of the democratic county convention.

For Auditor and Recorder. To the Editor: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of Auditor of the next November election, subject to the decision of the democratic county convention.

A disgruntled affair occurred at the depot last Monday night. A man by the name of Doyle, who has been employed by the railroad company at that place, entered Pat Hickey's saloon, and commenced a quarrel, and Pat tried to stop him.

On the 1st proximo the stage will make connection with the O. R. & N. railroad at Baker city.

Win. Lloyd accidentally shot himself through the right foot on Monday last, while hunting in the brush on the river about five miles above here.

Charles W. and family arrived here last week from Des Moines, Iowa, and have bought property and are now building a residence intending to permanently locate.

This gentleman is a first-class tailor by trade, and will open up a shop at an early date.

Taylor & Maxwell's clothing store was burned up Tuesday last, at Henry Ottman's, Sr. place on Main street.

Several dead hounds and hares are becoming quite numerous here, and as the season closes they will no doubt be more plentiful.

The place to buy for cash is at Beck's.

On Monday morning last, about 9 o'clock the residence of S. C. Hale, about three and a half miles below town, was during the summer of 1893, the young man had his shot-gun along with him, and the seat on which he was sitting tipped over and the hammer of the gun caught in some way, discharging the barrel, blowing away his right hand and crushing the wrist in a shocking manner.
