Washington Co. and Weiser.

We are entering upon a new era in the history of western Idaho. The period of the Overland stage coach is nearly past, and the railroad and telegraph are here. The pioneer may sleep late at elegant Pullman sleeping car at Weiser and journey along with little or no fatigue across the continent in a few hours. As three to five days ago, he may return to his childhood home in Iowa, Missouri, Illinois, or even Maine. The news may be received by wire of the rise and fall of countries to the eastward. New York, or any other of the world's great markets, within an hour after they are called. The returns of the late election were notified here nearly as soon as they were known in Chicago. Our merchants receive their freight as cheap and as soon as they do at Ogden or Salt Lake city, Utah. Our houses, best wood and other productions, may be shipped to Boston, New York, Omaha and Chicago, at as low rates as the same articles here. For every acre of big territory ten years ago. Our mines are enabled by the railway to ship their ores to Omaha, Salt Lake and San Francisco, at comparatively low rates for every acre and other reasons, with which we are all familiar, we are now entering upon a new era, and we must all now aim to adjust ourselves and our efforts to the new order of things. The farmer must turn his attention to raising horses, cattle or sheep, instead of raising grain and raising stock. The great national grazing lands on every side, the unequalled natural facilities for raising stock, the town of Weiser should grow into importance. Now, Washington County, Idaho, is to-day the banner corner of the whole territory, either in agricultural, grazing or mineral lands. This county has some of the finest farms, fruit, grain, vegetables, horses, cattle, sheep, fish, timber, and it can show some of the most valuable mines that will be utilized at no distant day, we hope. The valley adjacent may be made to blossom as the trees when all her water facilities are properly developed. Mineral will always trade here. The cattle, horse and wool growers of this county stand today in the front row. The granite and slate quarries are large houses of general merchandise to enable those to buy their goods at living prices. Weiser with its railroad, need be the place. of building up a successful business. That the Eastern people, who come along and they say, "Welcome is the place. They will say, 'I am like not content with their newspapers to work things down. This needs to be the stringer looking for a place in here, since the field over all concludes he can't live in this place at the same time. He goes down to the country and settles down. The result is that number of the town grow as they would last have been but one principal established. Portland is in the center, but aims to keep itself from New Tacoma fighting as long as possible, in the hope that both places will decay.

Let us learn from observation if Weiser business men ask for public buildings within reason. The people of the whole country, who are not yet settled here, should have all they ask. This society should have a count house and jail, costing my fifteen thousand dollars. It is not a bad thing, but one principal established.
