THE SEVEN WONDERS OF THE WORLD.
The seven wonders of the world, in ancient times, were the Pyramids of Egypt, the Pylons of Alexandria, the wall and hanging gardens of Babylon, the temple of Diana, the statue of the Olympian Juppiter, the Mausoleum of Artimida, and the Colossus at Rhodes. The seven wonders of the world in modern times are the printing press, the steam engine, the spinning Jenny, the telephone, the photograph, the telegraph and electric light. The so-called "seven wonders" of the ancients were marvels compared with those of the present time. The Brooklyn bridge, for example, would make the hanging gardens of Babylon a mere toy, while the whole seven wonders put together would sink into insignificance could their builders have seen a lightning express train at full speed.

THE SEVEN WONDERS OF THE WORLD.
The Washington Capital, of a recent date, says: There is just one thing to be said about the treaty with Nicaragua, which gives us a right of way across that country for a canal to connect the Atlantic and Pacific—it ought to be ratified by the senate this very week. Uncle Sam ought to go to work and build the canal. The alternative policy to abandon the Indians to the English and French. The English are strengthening themselves in Honduras; the French are establishing a state at Panama. Not to lose this opportunity to demonstrate our supremacy in this hemisphere would be to admit that we are not really a nation.

THE SEVEN WONDERS OF THE WORLD.
At birth the mean length of boys is eighteen and one-half inches, and of girls, eighteen and one-quarter inches. Growth is most rapid immediately after birth, and continually diminishes until about five years of age, from then until sixteen years of age the annual growth is two and one-fifth inches; during the next year one and one-half inches; and during the next two years one inch only. The average height of a man has been estimated at five feet four inches. A man is taller in the morning than at night by half an inch, and in some cases the variation is an inch or even more.

THIS WEEK'S LEADER.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 27, 1894.

Happy New Year!

No Portlander or Beaver had reached this place for over ten days. Was Allison and Beasly... The stores all did a rushing business on the three first days of the week.

Mr. B. H. Wallace returned yesterday from his California trip, looking fat and "wheezy."

Frank Eiko, who keeps a restaurant at Huntington, visited this place on business yesterday.

Close the store of your goods, the heavy weight station will crush some of the old shingles in three or four days.

A little boy of C. E. Nichols, living near Falk's Store, on the Payette, accidentally shot himself through the upper part of the thigh on Monday last, the 24th instant.

Mr. Frank Curtis was immediately dispatched for a surgeon, but could procure none until he reached here late in the evening. Dr. Hunt left by Tuesday morning's stage, but arrived to find the little fellow dead.

The Howard School Co. have the visiting scholars of this office a big, fat turkey for a Christmas dinner.

Do not forget to attend the grand ball next Wednesday evening, given by the Miners' Protective Association.

There are parties, prospects of local interest, including during the week. As there is nothing occurring these dull times, it is a hard matter to make news.

The legislature has adjourned until after the holidays, and a majority of the members have left the hall. There is a number among the much-lamented saints.

Mr. J. C. Murphy, born Tuesday last, said that the snow had not been over eleven inches deep in Pocatello valley, and that the south hillsides were all bare.

All parties should be arranged to attend on or about the 30th of the year. Let us all think up on that we can know how we stand at the beginning of the year.

The O. R. & N. Co.'s train has been blocked for about two weeks between Portland and The Dalles, but no trains have been running on that line into Huntington. The O. R. has been making daily trips, being a little behind time.

The Christmas tree was a fine affair, one which will not soon be forgotten. Old Santa Claus acted his part well, causing much fun for the vast audience assembled. The commission furnished everything splendidly, and all went to their homes well pleased.

We acknowledge an invitation to attend the grand banquet and ball given by the citizens of Pocatello on the evening of the 24th instant. It should like to have been present, but owing to the distance and some rough conditions of the roads, nothing will be done. Had it been possible...

An omnibus lady made a fine catch and it is her own in this town. She has a Christmas dinner preparing in the kitchen, which will be a fine affair. The eastern hills must have been that pretty in Idaho. How it looks in the ground and how it looks in the hand. It is at least most beautiful that the hand has given the best thought, but how often...

The Christmas ball is said to be the most successful affair of the season given up in Idaho, and the most successful. The ball was given on the 24th inst. The ball was given on the 24th inst. The ball was given on the 24th inst.

Mr. G. E. Drake is the joint agent for the O. R. & N. and O. R. & N. railroads in Pocatello.

Frank Harrison, who has been in the city for some time, has just returned from a trip to the coast. He has been in the city for some time, and has just returned from a trip to the coast.

Mr. J. M. Ferguson came from Huntington to help in the Christmas for Christmas here.

All the children have been taken in by these two old lads—Tom and Jerry.

There is a fine display of goods at the store of Mr. J. M. Ferguson.

Mr. William Simpson, whose death notice appears in another column was a pioneer and an early prospector on the frontier. He was born in North Island, and came west from there' country to this coast. He has been in most all the mining camps in the west, constantly following the occupation of prospecting, prospecting and mining. About seventeen years ago he became identified with the interests of this immediate country, and has remained at Rathfrim, where he and his brothers have valuable mining interests, ever since. Deceased was well and favorably known in many places on the Pacific coast, and his many friends in this county mourn the loss of an valuable citizen. May he rest in peace.

MARRIED.
At the residence of William Allison, on the 24th inst., by Rev. E. H. Wallace, the following nuptials were celebrated: Miss Mary Williams, of Pocatello, and Mr. Frank Curtis, of Huntington.

Our government can no longer be said to be an experiment. One hundred years of successful existence have established it as a permanent institution. The magnificent record of the people during the late election proves their patriotism, and the wisdom of our Constitution. Our immense commercial interests also furnish convincing proof. We know of no better illustration of the success attending honorable and able business methods than the firm of D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Mich., the leading business of this country. From small beginnings, thirty years ago, they have built up their mammoth business by strict adherence to their initial principle of furnishing only the best goods obtainable. They offer to send their valuable "Annual" free to all who expect to buy goods or bills.
