SONS-STRANGE NOTES

Was the Huntington bridge torn a "successful" one?

THE BOAT IS AHEAD

The Huntington "Herald" announced that the Huntington bridge was torn a "successful" one. The bridge was torn by a fire which broke out on the night of the 19th. The fire was caused by a gas leak in the bridge's structure. The bridge was torn in several places, and the fire spread rapidly. The bridge was closed to traffic for several days. The bridge was repaired and reopened to traffic on the 21st.
