

A Suffering Soldier

There is no man in the world who has suffered more than I have. I have been through the most terrible trials that a man can undergo. I have been in the front lines of the war, and I have seen the most terrible sights that a man can see. I have been wounded, and I have been in the hospital. I have been in the hands of the enemy, and I have been in the hands of the doctors. I have been in the hands of the nurses, and I have been in the hands of the surgeons. I have been in the hands of the men, and I have been in the hands of the women. I have been in the hands of the children, and I have been in the hands of the old people. I have been in the hands of the young people, and I have been in the hands of the old people. I have been in the hands of the men, and I have been in the hands of the women. I have been in the hands of the children, and I have been in the hands of the old people. I have been in the hands of the young people, and I have been in the hands of the old people.
