Reminiscences Re-Set.

Our issue of March 3, 1892, contained a reprint of the first issue of the Weiser Signal, which appeared on the 3rd day of March, 1883. In a few issues of the Signal we shall print from time to time extracts from the first volume, which will be found interesting reading, as they contain reminiscences of the early days of Weiser, which will be recalled to the minds of many of our old citizens, and may interest the younger readers. The first issue of the Signal was printed on a Washington hand press, which was operated by muscular power, and was a very slow process. The paper was printed on one side only, and the subscription price was $2.00 per year. The Signal was published every Saturday, and was the only paper published in Washington county. The first issue contained 4 pages, 7 columns to the page, and was a very creditable publication for a new paper. The first page was devoted to boiler plate matter, and the second page to local matter. The third page was devoted to boiler plate matter, and the fourth page to local matter. The first issue contained 1,000 copies, and was sold for 5 cents per copy
