WHAT MR. SPENCER SAW
When He Visited
Horton County.

Mayor S. F. Spencer, of Salt Lake, who lately visited the Seven Devils, has explained to a reporter of the Salt Lake Herald, which gives a description of the camp and of a number of its attractions, the location of the mines, the various types of its productions, and the general appearance of the country. The country is almost inaccessible, and he would not advise poor men of men without means to go there. The force of men at the mine is in the hundreds, but the country is a very productive one, and the various kinds of people coming out, including, while some are rich, others are poor. It is a wonderful world of gold.
