

THE WISER STORY
The wisest man in the world is the one who knows himself. He knows his own mind, his own strength, and his own weakness. He does not let himself be carried away by the passions of the moment, nor does he let himself be misled by the flattery of the tongue. He is content with his lot, and he is satisfied with his share of life. He does not envy the rich, nor does he despise the poor. He is kind to all, and he is just to every one. He is the man who is truly happy, and who is the envy of all who know him.
