How to Treat a Burn.

The following from the Illustrated is the best advice to be had on how to treat a burn. It is the result of the experience of the University of Connecticut.

The first thing to do is to get the burn out of the fire as quickly as possible. Then, if the burn is on the face, neck, or chest, it should be covered with a clean, white cloth. If the burn is on the arm or leg, it should be covered with a clean, white cloth and the limb should be raised above the level of the heart. If the burn is on the hand, it should be covered with a clean, white cloth and the hand should be held in a position that will allow the fingers to move. If the burn is on the foot, it should be covered with a clean, white cloth and the foot should be held in a position that will allow the toes to move.
