RANKIN MINING CO. TO INCREASE CAPACITY

THE RANKIN PROCESS OF REDUCING ORES A PERFECT SUCCESS.

H. D. Rankin, the inventor of the Rankin process of reducing ores, accompanied by Dan Jacob, head electrician at the mill, came down from the camp on Rapid River Thursday afternoon.

They are on their way to Butte, Montana, to purchase machinery to increase the capacity of the acid producing plant at the mill.

The mill has been in constant operation for nearly six weeks. As a test, in order to get the machinery in proper working order, but few tons of ore a day was worked, but it was gradually increased until the mill was working its full capacity of 25 tons per day. When Mr. Rankin left the camp, the mill had been shut down in order to clean the batteries, as they had become so loaded with acid and amalgam that the mill could no longer be operated, without cleaning them.

The process invented by Mr. Rankin is a pronounced success, as by it the most refractory silica ores are made free milling, and are easily reduced.

The making of the nitric acid—the principal reducing agent—is also proving successful. With the machinery now at the mill, 500 pounds of the acid was made in less than 30 minutes.

With the introduction of new machinery to increase the capacity of the acid making plant, there is practically no limit to the ore that can be reduced.

The Rankin company is now working about 60 men, and this number will be largely increased when the new machinery is installed.

Mr. Rankin expects to be absent about eight days.

DEATHS.

DEATH OF MRS. ELLEN LLOYD.

Mrs. Nancy Ellen Lloyd, wife of J. M. Lloyd, who lives in the eastern part of the city, died Wednesday afternoon after an illness of several weeks with typhoid fever. She was 34 years of age, was born at Marshall, Mo. She has a mother and five sisters living at Springfield, Missouri, and leaves a husband and four children in Weiser.

Mrs. Lloyd was a member of the Royal Neighbors of America, and for 20 years has been a devoted member of that order. Her death is a sad loss to her family, and she was buried yesterday afternoon from Odd Fellows Hall under the auspices of the Royal Neighbors of America, and the Modern Woodmen of America, of which order her husband is a member. Mrs. Lloyd was a member of the Methodist church, and Rev. W. W. Deal conducted the funeral service.

DEATH OF G. W. MACOMB.

G. W. Macomb, who resides on Third St. at about eight miles from Weiser, died Wednesday morning at his home. Mr. Macomb had been in good health until Tuesday evening, when he was suddenly taken ill. In a short time he was paralyzed, and he died at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning. He was buried at Weiser Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Macomb was about 60 years of age. He leaves a wife and ten children. He was buried in the Weiser cemetery yesterday afternoon. Funeral services were held at his late home, Rev. Samuel Applegate officiating.

Domestic Troubles.
It is occasionally to find a family where there are no domestic troubles, especially here, but some can be traced by having Dr. King's New Life Pills around. Much trouble they give by their great work in stomach and liver troubles. They not only relieve you, but cure. 25c. at all Drug Stores.

Better Than Resolutions.

Some New Year's thoughts were presented by the pastor of the Congregational church last Sunday evening, in which he intimated that there was something better than the average New Year's resolutions, which are often made in the spirit of the Bible character who said "I go, sir, and went not."

"What the individual needs at this season of the year," he added, "is a new enthusiasm for right, a living transformation of the mind. Bacon said a man reforms all his habits or none of them, meaning that the New Year's practice of trying to out of a habit here and another there is expellable—the spirit of his life must be changed."

"Indeed, I sometimes think New Year's resolutions are unobtainable. They sound more like the old Testament than the new, more like the spirit of the Pharisees. What we need to find on the first day of the year, is a new and deep inspiration and then it will be a natural to do right and live a high type of life, as it is to breathe. Spend the early days of the year with grand men and good books and you will find a new life."

Butcher's Letter.

William Fontaine, butcher of Baker City, financial backer of Jerry White, who filed the contract to complete the Weiser electric light and water plant, is very indignant at the presumption of the city council in notifying him that he is indebted to the city in more than $0,000 for damages and failure to complete the same according to contract.

He wrote a letter regarding it that was so warm that it made things quite when read in the council room. The electric lights, poles in installation, and gray hairs began to make their appearance on Mayor Kelly's head.

Mr. William Fontaine, butcher of Baker City, promises all kinds of other things he is going to do to the city of Weiser.

Clara Mathes in Repertoire.

The engagement of Miss Clara Mathes and her popular company of players is an event very much looked forward to by the theatre goers of Weiser and vicinity and Manager Harvey is to be congratulated on his success in arranging a date for this, the most desirable attraction that plays the northwest.

Miss Mathes' company this season numbers fourteen people and the critics say it is the best support this popular star has ever had. The engagement will open Monday evening, Jan. 4 with production of the season's most worthy success, "Only a Soldier" by a comedy-drama in which every member of the company has a fine chance to display their individual talents. Miss Mathes, this season, is presenting a special company of vaudeville artists, between acts, making her performances continuous.

The prices for this engagement are 25, 35 and 50 cents. The seat sale will open Saturday at Churchill's Drug Store.

Monday's Boise Capital News has this to say of the Clara Mathes company:

The Clara Mathes company gave another delightful performance at the Columbia this night, presenting "Donna's Ransom" in more than a satisfactory manner.

Tonight's play is "In the Reign of the Emperor." The scene is laid in Paris during the reign of Napoleon III., and the story is said to be one of novel theme and absorbing interest, with action, incident and humor. Wherever the company has appeared the production is spoken of as equal in every respect to the highest productions. A great play, complete cast, correct and elegant costumes, and clever application between the scenes, make this performance continuous, and one of the attractions promised. So far the promises of the company have been fulfilled and Clara Mathes and her company have been an agreeable surprise to theatre goers, giving an entertainment in every way equal to many organizations of greater pretensions and reputation.

TERRIBLE CATASTROPHE AT CHICAGO THEATRE

MORE THAN 600 PEOPLE LOSE THEIR LIVES BY FLAMES AND SUFFOCATION.

The worst catastrophe caused by fire and suffocation that ever happened this country occurred at Chicago Tuesday afternoon. The new Troup theatre, considered to be the best constructed, and absolutely fire proof building in the country, caught fire from an electric wire and before the fire could be extinguished more than 600 people, principally women and children, lost their lives from the flames and escaping gas.

The scene inside the building when the flames had been extinguished by the fire department beggars description. Human bodies, their limbs burned and charred, and their faces marked by soot recognition, lay piled upon the floor, some in the arms and between of the building, and some of the bodies were found in the street. The loss of life was estimated the crowd all rushed, human bodies were piled one upon the other, 50 the top of the passageway. Women and children were found upon the top of the mass, where they had crawled in their efforts to escape, and were suffocated by the escaping gas.

Hundreds of the bodies are so twisted and mangled that recognition is impossible.

Wednesday evening, undertaking establishment in the city was crowded to its utmost capacity with dead bodies, while outside it required a force of policemen to keep in the order the thousands of persons who were searching for missing relatives and friends.

The matinee performance, at which the catastrophe occurred, was the first that had been held in the new building and it was supposed to have been absolutely fire proof.

The loss of life would not have occurred had not the fire proof curtain which shuts the stage from the theatre caught on a wire and refused to drop.

"Midvale."

Acting on petition of a number of the residents of Middle Valley, asking that the name of the postoffice be changed to Midvale, the postoffice department has granted the request. In the future when you write a letter to Middle Valley direct it to Midvale. It will seem rather odd to the old timers of that section to receive a letter directed to "Midvale."

SADNESS of SIMEON
BY HENRY WARD
The day had dawned gloomy and the sun was hidden behind a heavy curtain of leaden clouds. The wind whistled through the bare trees and the ground was covered with a thin layer of snow. Simeon stood in the doorway of his little cottage, looking out at the dreary scene with a sad and thoughtful expression. He had been thinking much lately about the future and the uncertainty of life. The days were long and the nights were dark, and he felt a heavy burden upon his heart. He had been a good man, a hard worker, and a devoted father, but now he felt that all his efforts had been in vain. He had no money, no friends, and no one to turn to in his time of need. He had been a failure in every way, and he felt that he had no hope for the future. He had been a man of many troubles, and he felt that he had no more strength to bear them. He had been a man of many sorrows, and he felt that he had no more tears to shed. He had been a man of many fears, and he felt that he had no more courage to face them. He had been a man of many doubts, and he felt that he had no more faith to hold. He had been a man of many questions, and he felt that he had no more answers to give. He had been a man of many struggles, and he felt that he had no more strength to fight. He had been a man of many battles, and he felt that he had no more weapons to use. He had been a man of many wars, and he felt that he had no more soldiers to lead. He had been a man of many conquests, and he felt that he had no more territory to conquer. He had been a man of many victories, and he felt that he had no more glory to win. He had been a man of many defeats, and he felt that he had no more honor to lose. He had been a man of many disappointments, and he felt that he had no more hope to have. He had been a man of many disappointments, and he felt that he had no more hope to have. The Past Year's Business
Has been a phenomenal one—phenomenal on account of the volume of business transacted, a volume so great that at different times during the year we were obliged to enlarge our quarters, and even with these improvements our large stock is somewhat crowded, but we hope to overcome this in the near future. For the year 1904 we expect as large an increase as this year's we expect to make this not only the busiest store in the West, but the "Big Business Store," and with your help, right prices and fair treatment we have great hopes that our expectations will be realized.

Working up a High New Year, I am, yours ever anxious to Morris Sommer
