LADDER LEADERS REINVESTIGATE BANK FAILURE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The Federal Reserve board today announced that it had ordered a reinvestigation of the failure of the Commercial Bank of Weiser, Idaho, in 1932. The board stated that it was concerned that the original investigation might not have uncovered all the facts surrounding the bank's collapse.

CLEAN BILL FOR STEPHENSON
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—The House today passed a bill to clean up the records of the late Senator Stephen P. Benson. The bill provides for the removal of certain records and documents from the public domain, as they are considered to be of no historical value.

BRYAN SAYS NOT THIS TIME
WASHINGTON, Jan. 3.—Senator Bryan today said that he would not support a bill to amend the Federal Reserve Act. He stated that the bill was not necessary and that the Federal Reserve system was working well.

REINVESTIGATION
The Federal Reserve board today announced that it had ordered a reinvestigation of the failure of the Commercial Bank of Weiser, Idaho, in 1932. The board stated that it was concerned that the original investigation might not have uncovered all the facts surrounding the bank's collapse.
