General Baden-Powell and Two Big Boy Scout Associates...
The illustration shows General Baden-Powell, the founder of the Scout movement, standing with two young Boy Scouts. They are outdoors, and the scene is set against a backdrop of a large wooden structure, possibly a stage or a set of stairs. The general is dressed in a military-style uniform, while the boys are in their traditional Scout attire. The image captures a moment of interaction between the general and the scouts, highlighting the connection between the Scout movement and its founder.
