INDUSTRY TO KNOW ITS FATE

House Caucus Which Is Considering The Tariff To Pass On Wool Schedule Today.

The most strenuous opposition developed against the wool bill was encountered before the House caucus was in session tonight. Democratic members from wool producing states declared that the proposed schedule provides for too low a rate on wool, and that the bill as framed will result in the closing of many sheep ranches. Representative Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee, who has been indisposed, was not present today to resume control of the bill in the caucus.

Substitution for Cotton.

Representative Redwood of Louisiana vigorously assailed the proposed duties on chicory, chicorette and coffee substitutes, and other substitutes for coffee proposed in the SIMMONS bill and moved to retain them on the free list as a boon to the breakfast table.

Democratic representatives are being besieged by representatives of insurance companies who protest against the inclusion of insurance companies under the corporation tax provisions of the tariff bill on the ground that they are co-operative organizations. The matter may be brought up in caucus by democratic leaders declare that the protests will be disregarded.

Germany's Princess and Prince Of Cumberland She Will Wed

THE historic court daughter is going to get married. The date is May 24. The place Berlin, and the man Prince Ernst August of Cumberland. Prince Victoria Louise is one of Europe's most interesting young women, and therefore her marriage is exciting a lot of interest in European court circles. They say Cupid really captured the princess this time, but there is a significant political side to the union to be considered. The wedding is expected to heal the breach existing for fifty years between the Hohenzollerns and the house of Cumberland.

IDAHO DEMOCRATS MUST GET TOGETHER

Administration Gives It Out Flat That Neither Faction Will Be Recognized Must Harmonize.

WASHINGTON—Idaho democrats must bury factionalism and get together or they will see no federal plums. That is the substance of the administration, and while it goes the announcement that no blanks Appointments will be made immediately. The administration is hopeful that Idaho democrats will be able to get together, so possible, in which event there will be a division of the spoils.

Compromise the Cue.

So far no appointments in the department of justice are concerned, the attorney general intends to pick the most competent men available, regardless of backing, and it is learned Purdy's belief that if he does this he will appoint Ben Gray as marshal and Frank Moore of Moscow as district attorney.

The Boise possffice and land office will not be filled immediately, as the incumbents will be allowed to serve out their terms.

Tuesday Senator Borah will call on President Wilson by appointment. Idaho Farmer Governor Hawley is expected in Washington to relieve Postmaster Gallagher of his duties.

CUBAN VENDETTA IS SPREADING

HAVANA—Jose Fernandez, a prominent Liberal politician and known throughout Cuba as "Chiqui" Fernandez, was shot and killed Monday afternoon in the principal cafe at Cienfuegos. The shooting marks the first stage of the vendetta provoked by the assassination Saturday of Celestino A. Medina, who recently was elected Conservative mayor of Cienfuegos. Medina was waylaid in the streets of Cienfuegos and riddled with bullets.

Accuses a Policeman.

The murder of Fernandez is a special policeman named Eustaquio Ordones, who is attached to the police force. It named Fernandez as the author of a note with a party of friends and without warning fired two shots at the policeman. Four bullets took effect. Ordones was arrested, but refused to make a statement as to his reasons for shooting Fernandez.

Senor Ferrara, speaker of the house, or representatives, was strongly in favor of a liberal course when word was received of the assassination of Fernandez. He immediately moved an adjournment, declaring that there was now no necessity for the lives of the Liberals and their only alternative was to retire from politics or fight the rebels.

Mendez Murderer Arrested.

The assassin of Mayor Mendez, a conservative, has been arrested. Gen. Bernardo Mengo Vazquez, was arrested Sunday night. He declared that he killed the mayor because he had refused to authorize the removal of his bank salary. This, however, is regarded as a mere subterfuge. Campos, it is rumored by the authorities, was hired to commit the murder by partisans of Jose Fernandez, who was defeated in the race for the mayoralty of Cienfuegos.

Suffragette Burn House.

HASTINGS, England—Militant suffragettes Tuesday destroyed the handsome seaside mansion at St. Leonards-on-Sea, belonging to Arthur Ryle-by De Crespe, Unionist member of parliament.

The women set only set fire to the house, but placed explosives in many of the rooms. Pictures were seriously injured by the explosion.

A large quantity of suffrage literature was left behind.

One picture shows the colossal colossi at the entrance of the Court of Sun and Stars—the explorers on San Francisco harbor. The arrival of the Golden Gate bridge opened will symbolize the entrance of mankind. The other picture shows one of the figures, fourteen feet in height, that will encircle the colonnade completing the Court of Sun and Stars. These figures, of which there will be 110, will each support a huge artificial jewel four feet in diameter. At night the jewels will glitter with reflected lights.

VALUE OF GRASSES.

They Are by a Measure the Most Useful Plants In the World.

Probably the grasses are the most useful plants in the world. It may be that more than half the individual plants in the world are grasses. It is a great family of more than 3,500 species, embracing species that are so little that they hardly reach an inch in height and some luxurious of the tropics that sometimes grow to be 100 feet or more.

Corn is a giant grass, and wheat, rye, oats, barley, rice and many cane are all grasses. Then there are millions upon millions of wild species, fitted to every soil and condition on the earth.

The number of species of grasses is not known, yet we have adopted four per cent system of cultivation, but a botanist will tell that in one in the year or difficulty of sending grasses. The only grass for cattle, is so easily sown and the seed so easily gathered that it is common sort of sod, and has become the standard hay crops of northern climes.

In some regions of Western Montana is the dominant cultivated pasture grass because it comes in of itself. In other regions with different soil types and farming it thrives poorly and possesses. Naturally the farmer follows the line of least resistance, yet it is by no means certain that he is obtaining the best possible cultivation of the best grasses that his soil is capable of producing. It is small an area beyond doubt now under cultivation.—Joseph F. Wing in "Meadows and Pastures."

The Glacial Epochs.

Recent theories in regard to the glacial epochs—there were more than one—observed—have been rapidly undergoing radical changes. The latest theory is that the glaciers came from above in the northeastern region with the Laurentian mountains as the center of the mountain of our northern portion of the country. It seems certain, according to Professor W. J. McGee, that the effect of this glacial period was to furnish evidence that man existed upon the earth during the first glacial epoch, and that he was then a savage. The glacial period is said to furnish evidence that man existed upon the earth during the first glacial epoch, and that he was then a savage. The glacial period is said to furnish evidence that man existed upon the earth during the first glacial epoch, and that he was then a savage.

Changing Tastes in Perfumes.

Perfumers vary in common use in the smallest degree, but it is curious to notice how close-they-change as to the appearance or otherwise of perfumes. The smell of rose is now established immovably by the majority of people, but in the old days rose, both as cold extract and as wood, formed a more perfume to aromatic. Lavender, too, was the most popular perfume of the Georgian era and was much in favor in England—both—now the slightest vogue. Even violet, although universally popular, is not the favorite it was in the days of the Empress Eugenie.—London Chronicle.

The Noise of Silkworms.

A pleasant sound is always to attended-sense to the twinkling room of the silkworm in China. The worms, being so very fruit that the temperature and humidity of their chamber must be very finely guard is taked, so that he may detect any slightest change of the sensitiveness of his skin.

After the worms are hatched no food nothing is permitted near them, and there are even guards whose duty it is to ward the flies off them. Those guards must bathe before entering the worms' presence, and their breath must be rarefied and disinfected. Onions, for instance, are forbidden fruit. Such precautions, even absurd, feel it is unnecessary for China scale the world in silkworm culture. A Chinese silkworm farm proves the struggle, and the process is one of the most interesting in the whole silkworm house is a possible to hear the worms feed-that is, it is even possible, at some distance, to hear the sound they make in spinning their cocoons, is almost like the ripple of rain.—Chicago Tribune.

Eyes of the Bermuda.

In the turnpike-to-have a public and wonderful row of a-wrestle that can afford no one comes on to discourage with the opposite that was accepted in Spain for the point and all but nearly are no different one from the other, as they are reported to be. In the days of the barbaric series the Bermudas were in fact, and still the old of the eyes and generally modified a resulting whatever. Later in life, however, it grows tired of one, and, according to writers Bermuda to worry why running or attaching itself to the feet of their craft and defend the-the-wrestle-the-eyes-to-the-eyes preventive points. Once there, the turnpike can become a haven, or whether on walks or shares its eyes with the Bermudas, and it cannot seek its food, and it cannot grow its eyes for it never grows still more. Therefore its eyes become superfluous and, according to nature's invention, the rule in such cases. Omnivorous Death Animal.

Fighting, the Undertow.

Those deadly undertows which so often prove fatal to swimmers are generated by tides and rainy currents. The former only every one at one side; the latter usually sweeps along the shore.

"If you are a robust swimmer," said a professor of the art, "you can generally overcome them by quick, short strokes. If, however, you do not or have never learned how, you are in a sad situation. Stop thinking-swimming-struggling-and-you will be all right. Lie on your back, or, better still, float with your head low, breathing easily. Keeping perfectly calm, you will soon find yourself out of the undertow. Then you can swim to shore, or, better still, float there until you are rested. Struggling or swimming violently will only tire you out. Keep your head low and either make another attempt or call for assistance. Sometimes you will find the undertow runs parallel to the shore. You may then let yourself be carried along with the current until you are able to swim to shore. But before doing it will, rest assured, when a short spurt will bring you to safety."

Here are not the streets of the Holy Land.—Kansas.

MAIL POUCH STOLEN AT NAMPA

HOISE—Registered mail in a sealed pouch intended for Boise was stolen from the depot platform at Nampa on the night of April 8, and up to this time no trace of either thieves or stolen property has been secured. Fryer E. Kell, the United States postoffice inspector, has been at Nampa on the case for several days. Last night he was at Gooding and after getting along the main line of the Oregon Short Line, over which the stolen mail pouch came before it turned up missing, so that no information could be obtained from him, and the local postoffice officials seemed averse to secrecy on the matter.

Was Valuable Pouch.

The pouch contained, it is understood, many registered letters and packages—one letter said to contain $1500—arrived in Nampa from the east over the Oregon Short Line on train No. 9 on the night of April 8. That train was late and did not connect with train No. 12—this should have carried the pouch on to Boise where the registered mail was to have been distributed.

When train No. 9 did arrive from the east the registered pouch was not on the Nampa postoffice. It is the present understanding that the pouch was not opened in the Nampa office, as it was registered straight through to Boise. But late in the night it was sent back to the station, to be sent on to Boise at 1:15 a. m. to connect with train No. 17 and it is now the mail and went from Nampa.

At the station the fatal mistake is said to have occurred. Neither the pouch nor any of its contents has since turned up—so far as known to the city. By reason the officials are keeping the matter quiet in the hope of catching the thieves before they get upon their guard.

POPE REPORTED TO BE WORSE

ROME—There has been a sudden change for the worse in the condition of Pope Pius X. Notwithstanding the reassurances of Professor Marchiafava, a cardinal states is being kept at the bedside and there is no doubt that the gravity of the condition is considered. The end of the pope is expected by the physicians during the night.

The temperature of the pontiff, which throughout almost the whole day remained at 97 degrees, is now indicating depression and weakness. The pulse, in the early evening at 140, and later 1, 102. The bronchial spasms which at the morning examination were found to be diminished, increased new and grave features Tuesday night. The affected lung on the left side of the chest was further examined with a sensible area of consolidation—the cause of pneumonia—and the cardinals within the sacred palace were more disturbed.

The attending physicians entered a special bulletin-giving confirmation of the situation in order to ascertain whether it contained information material and the names of the doctors that themselves in black up the lungs.

Last Communion Rosary.

The sacred precepts are being circulated, one being that the pope is on the point of death and that Father Agostino Pifferi, an Assumptionist monk, has been ordered to be in readiness to bring to the patient the last communion, this being the precedents of his office.

The supreme is to be an exaggeration of the situation, although undeniably the pope's condition is such as were owing to it, that the 80-odd-and-ten cardinals within the sacred palace are more disturbed.

Tuesday night the pope was reported to have had a comfortable night, and his temperature was 97 degrees, with a pulse of 100. His respiration was 24. The bronchial spasms were not so severe.

TEDDY ATE ST. LUNCH.

NEW YORK—One cup of chocolate, 1 cent.

One egg sandwich, 1 cent.

Total, 2 cents.

Such was Theodore Roosevelt's lunch and he ate it Tuesday. It was bought by the colonel among pupils, children of various nationalities at an east side grammar school at noon. The former president visited several schools to investigate the food at cost rates. He became so delighted, impressed with the child life, committee of the playmaster party.

Finds Not Progressive Thing.

"It was food which I would have relished as a first class dinner or lunch on the round up or with the redmen, or on a picnic or anything like that," said the colonel. "I feel very strongly on this lunch question. I feel that we ought by law to put every step in provide that the school board's schools furnish meals to the children at cost less than the cost price of raw materials. I hope that will be made a plank of the Progressive municipal platform in the fall."

Public and Child No More.

The colonel's remarks also appeal children's parents. They object to their pay more than 2 cents for lunch. One child, whom he referred to as our "amateur Vanderbilt," spent 5 cents buying chocolate, bread, cake, soup and three dishes of salad. Several people said the school day need is on the streets for their health-testing if from such cafes, some parents complain, drive the family.

Mr. Roosevelt and the children, who were selected by lot, ate their lunch at the same table. The colonel was interested in the fact that 1264 children the nursery daily at seven schools.

THE MONOPOLY EVIL.

In an article which recently appeared in the Independent, on "The War with Monopoly," Senator Borah said in part:

"We make a mistake," he says, "in dealing with the question purely as a economic problem or as a matter of business. It reaches a question of government and society far above or beyond a question of morals. There is in it a supreme question of justice—rights and equity, as correcting and universal as its analysis by the principles which assist our veterans in the battle for fifty years ago."

"Monopoly is at war with democratic institutions. The two cannot co-exist peacefully. * * * It must be apparent to all that, standing alone and unaided, the American idea cannot accomplish what its author hoped. They entered at the threshold of the century, the most gigantic agency of power. It was neither destroyed nor curbed successfully. The period during which that agency has been at work has been set aside by mankind as a period of the greatest growth of trade and the most wonderful development of commercial life. Almost everything which we call material prosperity is to be found in the last half century. Almost everything which we call social opportunity is to be found in the last half of the same period. Social and conducted by combinations of capital. Nearly all of the wealth held by individuals of the world is to be found in the hands of corporations or the people from the trust of industry or the profession and employment.

"Men who are in a position to benefit by the trust who are in a position to give it protection, have been forced within the past few months to testify to a condition of affairs which must be regarded as no less than startling. Bank officers and business individuals are forced from time to time to testify to the same condition. In order to increase the price of things which the people must have after perfect freight and insurance, our products are sold in foreign markets cheaper than to our own people. At interest bearing even rates and dollar what price shall be put upon the necessities of life for daily subsistence of people, some of whom are hard pressed to live. Territory is divided among unregulated hostess, and fines and punishments administered for lowering a price agreed upon with all the arbitrary power of an ancient sovereignty. That not so that less than 100 rear, practically double the banking and business interests of the country with a relentless violence never exercised by the most arbitrary government and, with a speed of motion as refined as it was apparently unconscious, they admitted that this would be secure, prosperous and imminent, to our government to such power should successfully drift into bad hands."

"Nothing could be more simple. Arrest or otherwise," said the senator in his article. "But while reaching out for more power, while carrying the evasion of governmental duty, while talking about changes in government and the building of bureaus, we shamefully refuse to exercise the power easily at our command or to discharge the simplest and most primary duty of citizenship. With full power to forbid every device which is to be used to the detriment of the people, we continue to permit the corporations to exercise their enormous powers. Upon what theory do we send men to prison for violating the law, and grant corporations the right to defiance of the law to undo their praise of sovereignty from the start. Upon what theory do we permit corporations to invest the proceeds of felonies and where they have been convicted of crime and are living in open defiance of the law? Upon what theory do we permit them to organize and have residence such as the present in a state of open defiance of seven months' official notice and put it out to the people? * * *

If I had my way I would make this a government of law in these matters instead of a government of expediency. Individual departmental discretion, I would make every corporation subject of proceedings as either to the demands of business trade. When it is unquestion proper and

No More Widowhood.

New moving regulations under the "Weiss Bill" law enacted by the last general assembly, which act doubtless will put a stop to the widest spread and make stock in the legitimate purchase more substantial.

Section 15 of the new law makes it compulsory for all corporations and associations engaged in mining, manufacturing to file after the month of July each year with the state inspector of mines a sworn statement, under oath, of the business of mining claims, development, year of work, general description of the property, valuation, etc., the blanks for such statements being obtainable of the mine inspector.

Sections 17 and 18 are the principle clauses of the enactment and are as follows:

"Sec 17. It shall be unlawful for any corporation or association to refuse, fail or neglect to make, execute and file the report required by section 15 of this act, and upon sufficient thereof shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and punished by conviction.

"Sec 18. Any person, corporation or association who knowingly makes a false report to the inspector of mines as provided by this act, or of the property of said claim, or who, in this state, or any person, corporation or association or individual who owns or operates any mine, mill, smelter or reduction works in any whatever, or portion to be made to the inspector of mines, any prospectus, report, statement, exhibit or other publication of or concerning the value, financial condition or property of said corporation, association, joint stock company, syndicate or other organization which old book, inspection, notice, report, statement, exhibit or other publication which contains any statement which is false, shall be deemed guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not more than ten years or fined not more than $10,000 or shall suffer both such fine and imprisonment."

Ontario Times: Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hale, late residents of Ontario, but of Weiser, Idaho, were in the city before the closing of the theatre last night. Mr. Hale is the manager of the Weiser theatre and the show is very popular. The entire company became acquainted with many friends and acted in the play, and the management desires to state there is no entrance or dark house immediately after the show. Mr. Hale is also in order to get space to attend the performance.

The only matter concerning the management at the show is the fact that the intermission after the first act seemed to become somewhat strained. Many friends and acted in the play, and the management desires to state there is no entrance or dark house immediately after the show. Mr. Hale is also in order to get space to attend the performance.

Takes Fatal Drug.

P. H. Perrine, employed at the soda fountain of Walker & Ford for the last ten days took much heavy early Monday morning and in his hurry forgot to take out his change for dressing. From here, it is worked in water in Idaho and is at the time employed in Hackney in the Nixon saloon.

It is believed his account have run he carried without the necessity of reporting to the office of the law.

Weiser, the Beautiful.

Weiser was visited last week by a representative of the Nampa Leader-Herald and on a business trip for that paper. He reports alvorably of the surrounding country of the corn and the apple industry. From the report of the paper visited one of the main streets of Weiser is not torn up. Men, get to work, for when you put it order and contain's new sewer system and present, of the paved address. It is the intention of the citizens there to make this change throughout the entire business section.

It is different in passing through Weiser by train is rightly called the possibilities of the town from its apparent size. Many of the scenic are the equal of any to be found in northern Oregon and they are considered by the old residents now living in the fact that it is the nearest point to Mountainian where first class fruit can be found, are readers who occasionally do passing shopping could not do better than to take advantage of the opportunities to be found in Weiser. Nowhere in the pleasantness of the Waterloo places to better advantages than in the erection of new hotel, a healthy interest would add on a business trip for that purpose. It is a single meeting of the Commercial club. In an other issue of the Signal appears an invitation to Nazarin Owens and to boost by turning their furniture orator advantages for the transfer, enticement with results in effect.

Throughout the town we met with similar examples of thrift, here, there and everywhere.

Weiser is a good, the town.—New Valley Herald.

VANDALS ON THE JOB.

C. A. Human Construction Company Move Big Main Out to Photo—Child of Many Loads.

But here seems to follow in the wake of the C. A. Human Construction company. Their success seems to be watching over them in an effort to keep away. From the first the company has been subject to work caused by their petty thieving and in the aggregate there has been in the neighborhood of $250 worth of material, tools and equipment stolen. All efforts to locate the cause so far have been to no avail.
