The Club Concert.

The Silkotte University Glee Club are one of their popular concerts opera house Saturday night. Their efforts were worthy of large audience, but the fact they could not appear on Tuesday evening as advertised on account of sickness, being late may have had much to do with small attendance.

However, all present appeared entertainment and spoke highly of the singing of the ladies and of the club as a whole. One of the club's best numbers was a mandolin solo by Miss Bryant, accompanied by the Misses Hall on the piano and guitar. The club's leader, Mr. Hall, is a graduate of the University of Oregon, Washington, and has selected talent.

Operate on Grouse Creek.

The Golden Rule Placer Mining Co., familiarly known as the Methodist company, will vigorously prosecute operations this season on their Grouse creek properties.

S. S. Curry, general manager, and D. Rose, a member of the company, arrived in the stage Sunday morning from Milwaukee, Wis., enroute to the mines.

The gentlemen were to meet a crew of twenty men here from Grant's Pass, Ore., a number of which had worked on the Grouse creek diggings last season. On account of the delay caused by the washouts west of Huntington, the party did not arrive here until Monday evening. They came pony and probably leave for Grouse creek this morning.

Mr. Hannaway, the former man agr of the company, is now in Portland. He will return a directorship in the company, but has been appointed manager.

This is the first time Mr. Rose has visited Idaho and he is enthusiastic in praising our climate and prosperous conditions, and states that when he left Milwaukee there were from two to three feet of snow on the streets.

MAN DIED ALONE ON DESERT SANDS

Sheepherder Finds Body of Mysterious Stranger who Jumped from Moving Train.

[illegible] remains of the unknown man who jumped through the window of a coach on an eastbound Short Line passenger train near Grovelland's sheep camp and three miles east of Owyhee station. The man had apparently been dead for four or five days and the body was badly decomposed. The discovery was made by one of Mr. Gardiner's sheepherder's. Coroner Lee was notified and he at once went to the scene, accompanied by Undertaker Schreiber. They brought the body into Schreiber & Son's undertaking parlors, where it now awaits identification. The inquest will be held tomorrow.

The unfortunate man, who was evidently demented, plunged through the window of a coach at a fast moving train on the morning of April 5. The train was stopped and backed up to the spot where the stranger jumped, but no trace of him could be found.

One day or two later a stranger appeared in the vicinity of Cleveland's sheep camp east of Owyhee station. He acted as though he was suffering from mental aberration. The herders endeavored to induce him to eat, but he insisted he was not hungry. He had discarded his coat and vest and his clothing was in tatters. Nothing up to a rags brush he would grasp a limb in his hand and shake it, saying: "Office do, you do, Mr. Williams? When are you going to pay me that $25?" He continually insisted if he were in Kansas City and kept complaining that a Mr. Williams owed him $25.

The strangers baggage was to out and vest, but could not persuade him to come to the camp. Finally he climbed to the top of a cliff of rock about 10 feet high and planted down and kept, making a dirt pack in his pockets. The herders hastened to his assistance and found his watch [illegible]. They made him an entirely [illegible] and telephoned for Sheriff Agnew.

Before the sheriff arrived the unfortunate had disappeared and through bloodhounds were put on the scent no trace of the fugitive could be found. The sheriff returned fully half a mile from the cliff before sinking down on his face in the sand to die.

The mysterious victim stood about six feet in height and weighed 180 pounds. His hair was brown and he wore no beard. His features are small and distorted beyond recognition. He wore a suit of underclothing, but no outer garments. In the pockets were found no identification papers. Upon his body, however, was found a gold watch, which he carried in his pocket. The watch has stopped at 2:30 o'clock, and is a handsome timepiece, and is still in excellent condition. Below the watch was found a gold ring, with the initials [illegible] engraved on the inside. The ring is also a handsome piece of jewelry.

To the Public.

BOTH STACKS IN OPERATION

Information received from D. L. Peters, manager of the White Knob company at Mackay, is to the effect that the smelter of the company is in full operation, and everything running smoothly, says the Boise Statesman.

Some plan ago the main engine was broken, the break being of such a character that it was necessary to close down. That has been repaired and the plant is now running.

Both stacks are in operation and are reducing 600 tons of ore daily. The results are considered to be highly satisfactory.

If the atmospheric disturbances have been interesting and important, the value of the property being fully protected as with his judgement and the ore is again in sufficient to keep the plant running during a long period.

The electric railway up the mountain to the mine is running very smoothly, transporting the great amount of ore and supplies without a hitch. Everything has a busy appearance and the prospect for the year is very promising.

There is now a daily train on the Short Line branch, this being a great advantage to general business as well as that of the mining company.

Rumors of Rich Strike.

There is a rumor in circulation, says the Boise Statesman, to the effect that a very important strike has been made in the Warbonnet mine at Big creek. It seems a rich shoot was struck on the surface. A telegram was received by one of the parties residing in Boise to know about the matter, but as usual have learned.

CONTINUE TO STEAL LAND AND TIMBER

LAND GRABBERS AND TIMBER SPECULATORS GET IN THEIR WORK IN SPITE OF PROTESTS.

Washington, April 16.—Speaker Cannon's Land Law failure at this session of Congress, is the meanest with less good both from the standpoint of keeping the pirate land laws upon the statute books to enable a grab in the west during the coming year of a few million acres more of the people's lands. The mandate is apparently being heeded correctly by Congress.

In spite of the annual memorials, letters from the Presidents; in spite of a special message to congress urging the repeal of the Timber and Stone Act and in spite of the earnest personal public sentiment favoring the measure, at least six months of the congress is prepared to admit its domination, by a wave of land grabbers and timber and land speculators which will, before the next session of congress, have stolen several tens of millions of dollars worth of government property which can never be replaced.

This repeal of the Desert Land Act, is but of the subtle corporations law [illegible] which is being steadily perpetrated upon them and upon their children. They would rise in might and grind to atoms the hordes of schemers and plunderers who are despoiling the nation of its greatest wealth. It is a short, insidious form which is with remarkable rapidity absorbing our [illegible] of the people of the United States, have opposed before this congress and repeatedly sent [illegible] testimony, showing what a swindle it was, in on the poor settler who spent a small piece of [illegible] to the Government, if the Timber and Stone Act were repealed. Mr. F. A. Walker, of Massachusetts, and Mr. Hall, of Missouri, [illegible] in Montana and the Pacific Coast states—lands whose title should today be in the hands of settlers and actual occupants—all [illegible] with congress either through its [illegible] to make an entry allowance of dollars, appeared before the committee and pressed against the repeal of the Timber and Stone Act.

It is true that the bill to repeal the Timber Act was allowed to pass the Senate without opposition from the timber pirates, even after they had announced that they were opposed to any repeal of the law and the inference is therefore that they secured the mandate that the bill would be dull taken care of in the House and probably never come out of the Public Lands Committee. One member of that committee from Maine says it passed.

Congress is hurrying through with the necessary work in a manner to [illegible] forces an early adjournment—within the month. With the ponderous machinery of the legislative branch of the government this will effect a saving of several thousand dollars for every day that the session is shortened—so far every day that congress delays the repeal of the Timber and Stone Act, it means a loss to the people of the United States of hundreds of thousands of dollars and the absolute loss of a great heritage of future seekers of homes upon the public lands.

Could the people of the country realize the necessity of the steps which is being steadily perpetrated upon them and upon their children, they would rise in might and grind to atoms the hordes of schemers and plunderers,

YOUNG MEN TO THE FRONT.

A large number of the young men of Weiser—we understand about one hundred and twenty-five of them—wish to organize themselves into a Young Men's Christian Association. They desire a headquarters for self-improvement and recreation, for study and healthful play and social enjoyment and there can be no question but that what is a very proper and which good citizens, church members and non-church members, alike, in short, who want to see an orderly, moral and intelligent community, are glad to encourage. This is particularly true as the young men themselves take the first move in the direction indicated, and pledge themselves to a membership which warrants the establishment of a place of resort which would represent their best aspirations. We trust and believe that such laudable project will be supported by the best moral and material influence in the city of Weiser is capable.

The O. R. & N. Co. reports 1,200 cars of wheat in the Nampa yards this year. These improvements will consist of a greatly increased trackage, new conductors, cattle, etc., the moving of the old water tank and the planking of the ground between the tracks in front of the depot.

The Hoskin Land & Cattle Company has closed a deal with Tatlow Bros., whereby the latter becomes possessors of about 2000 acres of land in Blaine county. The land is situated along the Snake river and extends from the big log house on Lava Heights up the east bank several miles. We understand that the Tatlows will use the land in connection with their power proposition. The water right is valuable, and the Tatlows are to be congratulated upon securing it.

A number of gold coins have lately made their appearance in southwestern Idaho which have been through a smelting process. They have been given an odd look which fakers them quite light. The work evidently that of an amateur and is quite ingenious. Several of these coins have been through the banks at Nampa and the police are trying to detect the perpetrators, but have been unsuccessful up to the present time.

After having three counts of chloroform Saturday night with squadron about the life of Mrs. Fatherly, proprietress of a lodging house, at Pocatello, was called by physicians Sunday morning and pronounced out of danger. Mrs. Fatherly's husband is under arrest charged with the crime. He was arrested Saturday morning at Soda Springs. Mrs. Fatherly was found in a room in the lodging house with the gas turned on full. Her husband was found in the room with a bullet hole in his head. Both were unconscious when found. Mrs. Fatherly was revived after considerable effort, but Fatherly died without regaining consciousness. Coroner Hall and Deputy Sheriff Hogan investigated the matter and decided that Fatherly had killed himself and then attempted to kill his wife by turning on the gas. Fatherly was a man about 50 years of age and had been married but a few months. He was a stranger in the city, having arrived from Montana a few days before the tragedy occurred.
