WE NEED IT.

There is one thing that the city officials could look after at once and that is one or two public watering places where the horses and others may water, their horses when they come to town. It is something that is badly needed and the fine weather of April is the time to do it.

Weiser is a thirsty town and would have a tendency to over drink in the city and it would, besides add to the attractiveness of Weiser to the faithful horse. While we stop to think how much one horse drinks standing at the hitching posts for hours in the hot sun without a drop of water to drink, how lonesome of the horse-relative of the one there to the post we are very much in the mind to think. Something should be done.

Which side-am I on?

WHICH WAY ARE YOU PULLING?

There are in this world two kinds of forces—one pulling down, the other pulling up, upward or sideways.

The saloon, the churches, the educational societies, schools, art museums, the higher drama, the social institutions are pulling—not up, pulling more light and joy to human lives any merchant should do to get some customers, to have better things to offer them and to be sure of better business by deserving it. Each community will respond in the vigorous work of the mercantile doing business there, and it may be expected that when the season has ended the balance sheet will be entirely satisfactory to the merchants who made the effort for business.

In all the spring meetings the value of the advertising space must be appreciated, by the men who are working for business. The necessity of using space to good advantage must be understood by those who are planning for results. If good is to come from the work of this spring it must come in large returns from those who have been impressed with the advantages offered by the business men. Putting business ideas into advertising spaces will make a merchant to talk understandingly and effectively to a great many people of his communities, and profits will follow the use of sensible judgment worked into advertising.—Advertising World.

FRATERNAL BROTHERHOODS.

W. D. Lovejoy, ex-county attorney of Washington county, Ida., was charged with embezzlement, it being alleged that he appropriated $190 of the county league fund a couple of years ago, was tried at Weiser this week and acquitted. Jet will be remembered that Lovejoy left the country and afterward returned and surrendered himself to the authorities. His attempted defense again the charge was that he pulled the wool over the eyes of the county commissioners by securing their signatures to some book, so-good and fine, down, the affirmative backing. This in one act of fraternal clubhouseness that gives one a great pity to the contempt he manifested.—1-14-'04—From the case that when good were start down trade they get landed into obscurity and a disgraceful letter, then ambled back into upright ways. Three cheers for Weiser.—Caldwell News.

Weiser Has 'Em.

When a stranger stands into a community and opens up his business enterprise with an attack on some of the oldest citizens of the place, calling them cold fossils" and using like terms of depletion, it is not a very good recommendation of his qualities as a gentlemanly or desirable addition to the community. It's an evidence of coarse training and ignorance that does not belong in a town. It is a slam at every old citizen of this town, because if one is mentioned as "cold fossil" by a person who has not been in the town long enough to steal the unwilling stocks, all the old settlers are in the same class.—Exchange.
