Democrats Are Hopeful.

If he cannot this element in both factions that body probably lost a third candidate may be nominated, and those who oppose this hope are satisfied that a conventional candidate can be found upon whom both these can and would unite. These Republican politicians are aware that the Democratic party cannot hope to win at their own unaided strength, but they maintain that the Democratic candidate will probably contain a strong ticket in a pretty sound platform, and there they feel that it behooves the Republican convention to act as few as possible in its direction of writing the platform which it can run the country upon. THE CITY OF AFFAIRMING.

THERE IS NOTHING more serious reported in the Daily Signal to-day than the unfortunate condition existing between the mayor and the city council. Whether the fault lies with the mayor or with the council, or with both, is not for us to say. We are not acquainted with the facts and we do not believe the people of Weiser are interested in the matter.

We have the impression however that the mayor is right and that the council should have stood by him. It was understood that we took over the water system for the purpose of securing the benefits of cheaper water and better service. Anything that tends to defeat that purpose is a detriment to the city and should be avoided. The mayor is right in his contention that the water rates should be left where they are at least. This was the understanding when the system was taken over by the city and we believe the people will hold the council responsible for any increase in the water rates.

We are informed that the mayor has been unable to get a quorum of the council to meet with him for the past two weeks. This is not as it should be. The council is elected to look after the business affairs of the city and it is their duty to meet with the mayor when called upon to do so. If they refuse to do so they are not living up to the trust reposed in them by the people who elected them.

The mayor is elected by the people and he is responsible to the people for the conduct of the affairs of the city. He is entitled to the support of the council in the discharge of his duties and if he is not receiving that support the people should know it.

Why a Cat's Eyes Glow in the Dark.

The eyes of a cat shine in the dark and become fiery because they reflect the light, but because they retain the light within themselves. Cats can see with one-sixth the light that is necessary for human vision. It is only when there is no light whatever or the darkness is very intense that a cat cannot see. The retina of the cat's eye is provided with a reflector which is a powerful lens with a reflector at the back. This reflector is composed of many layers of very fine crystals arranged like the scales of fish. Each of the layers is of a different refractive index and acts as a mirror. It is only when the light is very dim that the cat's eyes glow. In bright light the pupil of the eye is contracted to a vertical slit.—New York World.
