

Weiser Girl Weds at USO Center Ceremony

News Notes Concerning Washington County Service Men

Miss Ina Clifford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Clifford of this city, and Marion L. Roberts of McMinnville, Ore., a technician second class in the navy, were married in a ceremony at the USO center, 383 Market street, San Francisco, Calif., May 29. The ceremony was performed by Major C. O. Taylor of the Salvation Army, who was broadcast over the air and was the feature of the USO center's anniversary party. There were approximately 150 people present.

Miss Clifford had no idea what was in store for her when she went to San Francisco. She and her fiancé planned to be married quietly and she went to the USO center to wait for him to get off duty. Plans for the anniversary affair were under way and someone at the center learned that she had come to San Francisco to be married and put the proposition before her and her fiancé. They accepted and as the party was several days away, Miss Clifford was furnished a room in the mess hall in one of the best hotels and given every attention. Officials of the center presented the couple with a beautiful lace tablecloth as a wedding gift.

Miss Clifford is a graduate of the Nampa high school while her husband graduated from McMinnville high school and had one year in O. S. C. at Corvallis before entering the service. They met at The Dalles, Ore., where the groom was employed for some time.

Ensign Fagerstedt Calls Parents From East Coast

A telephone call, either from or through Washington, D. He talked with his mother, father, and sister, Mrs. Robert Smith, and told them they would, in all probability, not hear from him again for some time, and he also suggested that it would probably be useless for them to write, as he would not be stationed at any particular place and might not receive their letters.

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Morrison that their son, Claude, Jr., is stationed at Fort Warren, Wyo.

Fred Marten Gets Record Price for Steer

One hundred seventy-three dollars and sixty cents is a fairly good price for one steer any place any time, and that is exactly the check that was received Monday by Fred Marten, prominent farmer of the Weiser flat, for a 20-month-old "calf" that he sold to O. H. Lawson, proprietor of the Independent Market.

The steer, a Hereford, fattened on corn, weighed 1240 pounds and the price paid was 14 cents a pound. Figure it out yourself.

Mr. Lawson declares that during his 45 years experience in the butcher business that it is the most money he ever paid for one steer. "I have bought some that weighed more—but didn't pay nearly as much per pound," said Mr. Lawson. The big steer went the "way of all nice fat steers" last evening and he is now hanging in the great refrigerator in the Independent market, and the meat will be available to purchasers next week. T-bone steaks cut from the steer will weigh at least two pounds, and one of
