AFTER HUNTINGTON OFFICIALS

Governor West Threatens to Call Out State Militia to Clean Up Town

HUNTINGTON, Ore., Aug. 6.—Governor West quietly slipped into Huntington last night on his return from the lodge conference of governors, called a hurried and secret conference meeting of the mayor, city councilmen, and police commissioners, later took them—one—by—one—into—the—room of the cores, shooting up places where the officials disciplined saloonist and then warned the municipality that unless the town was promptly purged within the next few days the state militia would take full possession and serve the community until settled law.

When the time drew, Governor Mead took Charles A. Nettles, mayor of Huntington, and also member of the Bank of Huntington, aside, and warned him that a notice to the people, of cleaning up the town would be his cue to all the local executives of the state on the morrow—like on the grounds that Mr. Nettles as mayor of the town and cashier of the bank was breaking the people's quarter $10 to be one of the head of a corrupt corporation, encouling the incorporated town.

Police Judge Warned.

Police Judge W. A. Wood, who suspended the conference of county officers, was unofficially advised that the governor would ask for his resignation, as soon as further action can be brought about. Judge Wood is known to have been bonded as to some violations of the liquor laws of the state, and the militia has continued to hold around him in his official capacity.

When the conference was opened and Governor West addressed the officials, Mayor Nettles and his bondsmen knowledge of any more than slight of the law. Governor West immediately, as chairman, assumed the executive session and said:

"Come with me, and I'll show you."

The mayor, councilmen and police boss then trailed with Governor West through the town and downstairs.

West closed Thursday to the "home" where a white and three Chinese live. The house has the reputation of being a notorious bawdy-house and the children are maintained there at the same time.

Governor West then cited other instances of violations of the state moral code and handed the officials a written ultimatum.

Governor Is Positive.

"I want you now to understand that this town has got to be cleaned up. If you can't do it or don't do it, I shall order the state militia here within the next week and I will clean it up," the governor is reported as saying.

Governor West warned the mayor of activities which he would glean in the town, if the violations were not curbed immediately.

Huntington, has been running some on less wide open at intervals. Many of the citizens have protested against the laxity of the morals of the municipal family. Scenes have been frequently defined in these all-day fandays sales and immoral houses have been the talk of many crooks who came in for week stays, and of general disorder in the city. Gambling is credited with flourishing and the safety of men or women on the street at late hours has been noted.

WED AT THE WASHINGTON

Prominent Parcels Young Lady Becomes Bride of Well Known Salesman.

A quiet wedding occurred in the Washington Monday evening when Miss Hattie McCulley of Payette, became the bride of Cpl. W. H. Parker, a well known traveling man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Collison of the Methodist church in the presence of only immediate relatives of the bride. Following the ceremony a sumptuous wedding supper was served, covers being laid for six. The tables were attractively arranged with beautiful floral decorations. Those present were Mrs. Hattie Hall Burton, daughter Dorothy Hazel and Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

The bride, who is a popular young lady of Payette, is a granddaughter of Mrs. Divers and a niece of Mrs. Burton of this city and has a wide circle of friends here and in Payette. The groom is the well known representative of the U. S. Cartridge Co., an expert salesman and popular throughout this section, which he has visited for several years. Mr. and Mrs. Parker departed on the Tuesday morning train for Baker, from there they will visit coast points including Seattle. Mr. Parker's territory is east of Kansas and Louisiana into southland. The Signal joins their numerous friends in extending heartiest congratulations and well wishes.

GREAT IN DEFEAT.

From all indications John Y. Mc-Clellan has been defeated for governor by a few hundred votes, but he has long many of his supporters with the people who know him feel he could by no means be defeated. He is one of the few of a committee of fifteen who extensively acquainted in all parts of the state, and he would have been nominated had not the voters in the north and southwest been led to believe he was being supported by his neighbors. They were made to believe he could not be elected if nominated owing to the Mormonism of Idaho, but they now know it was started for campaign purposes only as Clarence Darrow, the star of the Haywood case defense, says when he lacked material. There could be no stronger confirmation of his statements. Even Ada county that was safe for Haines by 2,000, according to his enemies, gave him a small majority, and here in Washington county where he has been known intimately ever since he landed in the state, he polled twice as many votes as all his opponents put together. It should also be noted that he polled many votes in the counties where the Boise-Haines machine was.

The lawmaking of Idaho have in their eyes elected and they will join with the other citizens in doing by the state's greatest statesman. They now realize his injuries, and knowing his true worth they will demand his services to the state in the commercial field who are the leaders of both political parties and business men.

From the list of crimes committed by combination within the past year, meantime is a statement given out in Governor West, of Oregon, in which time there was a shaking up in that village. For the life of him he can lay conceded the record of crime in New York city, and that is the reason land into the state of Nelson.

Children and Summer Heat.

A series of extremely interesting and timely, have been made by Subdirector of Vienna on the effects of summer heat on infants and older children in some of the various districts of Germany, more particularly in Hamburg. The abnormally high mortality among infants during extraordinarily hot summer occasions of the year.

The investigations of our own observers fully confirm the same climatic conditions, the milk supply and general care of infants play also, very considerable, it was found that in comparing the two cities were Hydra there was a difference in the mortality of Rotterdam, Holland, with a population of 350,000, which had taken two-thirds as many infants under one year of age as Hydra, with a population of 200
