

Snap Shots and Nibbles by Dave Richards

The crew is back from their annual safari to Westport, Wash., for halibut fishing and they did very well indeed. Mel Baker, Bill Nix, "Obie" Obenchain and "Nasty Neal" Harlan have made this once a year trip something of a ritual. They go out with the same skipper every year and, when the weather permits, they have a really good time.

This year they trawled on halibut each of three days including the one day when Mel's son-in-law, Marcus Phillips, joined them. The limit is three a day per rod, by the way. Along with the halibut they caught 20 to 30 black cod in their black spawning colors. Bill Cunningham was telling me of a sort of funny play between some geese and some squirrels out at his place. He feeds the geese so they spend a lot of time hanging around and showing off their goosings. One day he was watching when a couple squirrels charged right through the gathering, even jumping over a couple of them. The old gander had his neck bowed ready to do battle, but the squirrels were gone and up a tree before he could react. He's no more than barely settled down and here they came back again, leap-frogging right over him.

Except for monkeys and crazy people, squirrels have about the most fun of all. I recall one time I was sitting on a stump waiting for a deer to wander past when I heard something coming. It sounded just like a deer bouncing along as they do when spooked. It turned out to be a pair of squirrels, one chasing the other. The lead one ran right up my leg, up on my shoulder and then out on my rifle barrel. He turned around and peered at me like Mr. Magoo for a bit before he decided he'd better get the heck out of Dodge. Even more weird was the time Deb and I were elk hunting and had just finished supper one night and were trying to get close enough to the campfire to thaw out. It was really cold and the wind was howling. All of a sudden, something latched onto my leg and I almost went into orbit. It turned out to be a flying from Boise. It was a very nice evening. They really enjoyed it. On Monday the Horton crew went to Weiser so Jennifer could take her driving test. (Which she passed, by-the-way, so beware).

Afterwards they had dinner at the Golden Horse. When they got home Grandpa and Grandma Myer joined them for cheesecake, which Jennifer was afraid her mom had forgotten to make. Friday Keith Brink and the two boys, Matthew and Kolby went to the Lewiston airport to pick up Kerry who had been in Portland attending a seminar, having to do with her job there. They came on to Midvale to spend the Mother's Day weekend with Kerry's mom, Toni Schwartz. Her daughter, Kathy arrived at her mom's that evening also. While they were here they helped Toni with odd jobs around her place, even put up a new fence. They all left Sunday. She also received a telephone call from Mother's Day from her son, Anthony.

On Saturday her brother, John O'Brien, called from England and informed her that a cousin of theirs and his daughter who were visiting in New Zealand had been killed in a car accident.

Byron Dale of Vale came to be with his mom, Doris Jean, on Mother's Day. He came for church then they went out to dinner at Bobby's Branding Iron. They went home and Byron retolled the garden for his mom, so now she can get busy and plant it. I'd ask a few cropper how he did it. He would books are still available for $10.50 from Terry Horton, 355-2315. The proceeds from the sale of these books will go to the BMT's, volunteer firemen and to the swimming pool-dressing room fund.

The Lions Club is raffling off a Remington 30.06 BDL rifle with scope to support the swimming pool. This gun is on display at Midvale Market. The tickets are $5 each or five tickets for $20. Only 500 tickets will be sold for this rifle. The drawing will be at the 4th of July barbecue. Midvale Swimming Pool is having a raffle. Items being raffled include a Whitewater raft trip, 3 days and 2 nights; 500 gallons of Cenex gasoline; a one day family pass to the Boondocks and Roaring Springs in Meridian; a historic decorative wooden birdhouse (value of $35-$50) and a Rodeo gopher gun valued at $1,000. Tickets are $5 each or five for $20. The drawing will be held at the barbecue on the 4th of July.

"Pick out a point you want to go to and never look back or any other direction." This is good advice for anyone with good character, but I always had to look back to see how I was doing, causing a big jog in my row. Or a friend would drive by in his pickup and wave, or blow his horn, trying to break your concentration and making you make another jog. I would console myself by thinking, "There is more corn in a crooked row than a straight row!" Or, "You won't be able to tell when the corn is four feet tall!"

It could be worse, like when God told Lot to take his wife and two daughters out of the wicked city of Sodom and never look back because He was going to destroy it with fire and brimstone. Poor Lot's wife had to look back and she was turned into a pillar of salt. Keep your latigo tight and your spurs jingling! -The Rambler
